The Heat Exchange Institute (HEI) announced the availability of an operational alert on steam dumps. The alert is the first in a series of educational Tech Sheets which will be released by the institute to help broaden understanding of heat exchange and vacuum equipment.

The tech sheets and other informative educational resources are available on the HEI website, www.heatexchange.org, on the Publications and Standards page.

The Heat Exchange Institute (HEI) is a non-profit trade association committed to the technical advancement, promotion and understanding of a broad range of utility and industrial-scale heat exchange and vacuum apparatus. The Institute concentrates its efforts on the manufacturing and engineering aspects of steam surface condensers, closed feedwater heaters, power plant heat exchangers, liquid ring vacuum pumps, steam jet ejectors, and deaerators.

Since its founding over 60 years ago, the Institute has earned international recognition as the leading authority on the technologies for heat exchange and vacuum apparatus. Institute standards are used throughout the world for the design, manufacture and operation of heat exchange and vacuum equipment.
